ANOTHER REASON WHY

An Appomattox soldier, Master Sergeant Alec Booker, home on emergency leave from Korea, tells us that the American Red Cross is doing a splendid job in Korea. He related many services to our men and to the position of tremendous numbers of prisoners of war and refugees. He says morale is always a problem in an action such as that we are engaged in now in Korea, and that the presence of the Red Cross has been a morale booster.

Thus we have another reason for our interest in the current roll call of the Red Cross.

MR. BABSON HANDS OUT SOME FERTINENT ADVICE

(Atlanta Journal)

That wise counselor Roger W. Babson gave a bit of advice highly pertinent to the times in his column on the financial page ... a day or so ago.

The question now most frequently on the minds of investors, large and small, is what is the safest hedge against inflation? How can one protect his savings with the value of the dollar constantly shrinking?

Mr. Babson's answer was almost startlingly simple—and sound. The greatest of all wealth in time of depression and in time of boom alike, consists, he said, of good health and good judgment. "The most wasteful people and the perrest investors are those who sacrifice their health for money, pleasure or social position. They will ultimately be treated by society as an orange peel is treated after one has sucked out the juice."

The wisest investors, then, will make good health their first investment. To store up physical, mental and spiritual resources is to build a hedge against physical and moral decay which can strip from society the fiber which holds it together. And, as Mr. Babson comments, "The less the dollar becomes worth, the more these reserves will be worth."

The pity is that too many of us are so concerned with the tangibles of today as to have no time left for concern about the intangibles of for greater worth.

INDUSTRIAL GIANT

(Cleveland Plain-Dealer)

One year ago it was predicted that General Motors, during 1950, would become the first United States corporation to earn a billion dollar profit. This goal did not materialize, but General Motors nevertheless established some all time records in its 1950 operations. Among them were:

Wage and salary payments of $1,809,218,043 to its 465,239 employees.

Net profits of $834,014,089 earned for its 445,000 stockholders, the equivalent of $9.25 on each of the 88,208,680 shares of common stock.

A tax bill of $1,119,000,000.

A $7,531,086,846 volume of business.

Production of 3,992,298 motor vehicles.

New peacetime high in aggregate sales of other products, including household appliances, Diesal engines and locomotives, gas turbine engines and automotive parts and accessories.

These are imposing records, which are of great significance to the customers who purchased General Motors products, to the employees who earned a living making them, to the sub-contractors and suppliers whose businesses benefitted from sales to General Motors, to the investors whose money made possible the remarkable expansion of the corporation and to the government which financed a substantial part of its operations with taxes paid by the corporation.

Progress being made on housing units in Roanoke.

British move to curb Reds in Singapore.

Governor Invites Graduates To Tour the Old Dominion

Richmond, March 14.- Governor John S. Battle is spearheading a special invitation from Virginia's travel interests to graduating classes of schools to tour Virginia this spring as part of the Virginia Travel Council's "forward with democracy" campaign.

Calling attention to the fact that of the great events in American history are vividly recalled in federal, state and privately restored and preserved historical parks, monuments and restorations, the Governor wrote graduating classes that "your state wants you to be prepared to be America's leaders of tomorrow. Your education will be more complete when you have seen where the great leaders of yesterday planned so well for our future."

Travel interests cooperate by offering special rates for organized school groups. Virginia entertained approximately 100,000 children last year, a most couble the number in any previous year.

The Travel Council is calling on travel interests to redouble their efforts this year. "Those who have visited the memorials to Washington, Jefferson, Monroe, Lee and other great figures in American nature who set the pattern in self sacrifice and leadership go away better Americans," George Summerson, of Bristol, president of the Council, said in launching the campaign.

Virginia during the last fiscal year entertained 22,000,000 visitors from other states and expects more than a 10 per cent increase in travel during 1951.

LADINO NEEDS HELPER FOR MIDSUMMER GRAZING

Ladino clover needs a helper in dry, hot weather when it comes to providing grazing for livestock.

Ladino will not make much growth in such weather because of its shallow root system.

So Extension Seevice specialists at V. P. I. suggest seeding 20 to 25 pounds of lespedeza per acre on many grain plantings anytime from now until about the end of March. The lespedeza, an excellent supplementary midsummer pasture, will have desirable growth by the time the ladino slumps.

Eight to 10 pounds of orchard grass per acre may be added to the lespedeza for luther growth.

HOMEMAKERS' ITEMS

Make leftovers work for you. Nutritionists say that wise use of leftovers is one way of combatting high food costs.

Leftover meat, for example, offers endless possibilities in preparing new dishes. Experiment if you like. Use it in hash, meat pies, or meat loaves.

Try putting a can of undiluted cream of mushroom soup with leftover pork or poultry. If you want to stretch it further add some vegetables such as peas, carrot or tur-nips. Leftover gravy may be easily combined with small pieces of meat to make an ideal sauce for potatoes or rice.

Boiled potatoes may be used many ways. Try them sliced and fried in bacon fat or butter. They are also useful for creamed or escalloped potatoes, and for potato salad. Mashed mashed potatoes with milk, shape into patties, and fry them crisp and brown in hot fat.

One of the most economical cuts of meat is beef tongue — either smoked or fresh. Simmer it in water until tnder, allowing an hour per pound. For flavor add a bleed onion, bay leaves, or whole cloves to the water. Fresh tongue needs added salt, but smoked tongue does not. After cooking remove the root and skin of the tongue and slice it. Serve it hot with raisin, barbecue, horseradish, or mustard sauce.

MICE PREFER PEANUT

Cheese takes a back seat when compared to peanut butter as far as mice diets are concerned, says John M. Jones, specialist at V. P. I.

Amos says peanut butter is better than cheese and other baits, and makes trapping the most effective method of killing mice in the home. If the penut butter is too soft, it can be worked into a bit of cotton and fastened to the trip on the trap. Nut meats are also good baits.

As for other generally unknown facts about mice—they usually spend their entire life within 10 to 20 feet from the place where born. They eat 20 to 30 day, yet consume only their body weight in 21 mice make of "nibbles" them effectively, the must be very potent. Zinc or strychnine alkaloid are used.

When Nasty Colds Leave You WEAK AND RUNDOWN HADACOL CAN HELP

If Your System Lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, Which HADACOL Contains

When a nasty cold leaves you in a weakened and run-down condition, HADACOL can help build you up if your system is lacking in Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, important elements contained in HADACOL. Many folks have found that this fine family formula helps overcome these deficiencies and soon they feel good again.

Mrs. A. Jiminez, 141 East 12th St., Port Arthur, Texas, gave HADACOL to her young son, Floyd, after he had recovered from a bad cold when she heard how HADACOL was helping folks suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. It helped him so much in regaining his strength and energy that Mrs. Jiminez says she is always going to have HADACOL on hand for Floyd.

Here is Mrs. Jiminez's statement:

"My son Floyd was very subject to colds. He's eleven years old, and he was run-down, didn't seem to have an appetite at all, and just simply lacked energy. I heard about HADACOL on the radio, and it was about this time that Floyd was just recovering from a siege of a bad cold.

He was very run-down, lacked an appetite and I started giving him HADACOL. After about a bottle and a half I could notice an improvement. His appetite picked up and he had increased strength. I think HADACOL has done wonders for Floyd, and can't praise it enough. I have continued to give him HADACOL and intend to always have it on hand for Floyd."

Floyd Jiminez

Men, women and children of all ages are praising HADACOL for supplying Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron which their systems lacked. Don't let that "After Cold Run-down Feeling" drag you down—HADACOL can help you too, if you suffer such deficiencies.

Sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great after the first few bottles you take or your money back. Trial size, $1.25. large family economy size, $3.50.
